PUBLICATION NEWS

Writing, research and publishing are a significant part of the academic journey, allowing us to participate in social discourse on important issues, and to contribute with unique research. Stirling celebrates the following recent publications:

Congratulations Chris Turner. "Erotic theology: Conversations with the music, literature and art of Nick Cave". St Mark's Review, Issue 249 (Oct 2019).

Congratulations Graham Hill. "Whistleblowing glorifies Christ: Challenging Narcissistic Leaders and Toxic Cultures". Eternity News,

Congratulations Shannon Hood. "Practice Makes Perfect – initial findings of a survey of Christian Counsellors and their use of Spiritual and Religious Interventions". Counselling Connections Across Australia Edition 11 2019, pp8-21 AND

"Cross Country Running – an investigation into the practice of Christian Counsellors in the USA, UK and Australia". Accord UK Spring 2020 (pp4-9)

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS:

Develop your own writing skills!

reo: a journal of theology and ministry is calling for submissions for its first issue of 2020. We plan to publish a snapshot of life in this season for the Stirling community, by collating written reflections and any other artistic expressions.

Email reo@stirling.edu.au with an original artwork or reflection of under 200 words. Reflections can be in the form of poetry, prose, stories or parables, prayers, questions or ideas—anything that has come to your attention in this time. reo is Stirling's online open access journal. See reojournal.com
